Car Kits - Module System

The Westfield module system was launched a few years ago in response to customer demand for a complete car kit package, which requires no sourcing of other components.

The major components of the cars are divided into separate build sequence modules. Each module contains every component needed for that stage of the build and can be purchased individually to match your budget and programme instead of all at one time. All the parts and components are new and the average build time is 120 hours requiring no special tools or equipment. The finished specification is identical to a factory built vehicle.

The XTR4 is only available factory-built to a very high standard set by Westfield that few specialist manufacturers can match. The XTR4 provides a motoring experience for the discerning driver looking for a unique package that combines, blistering performance, excellent and predictable handling, grip, excitement, and reliability that has never before been available at such value.

We have spent a great deal of time developing the XTR4 for both road and track use and have succeeded. It is beautifully designed and engineered.

The performance, is stunning thanks to the VAG 1.8 litre turbo four-cylinder engine that delivers, in standard form, 195bhp and coupled to the five-speed gearbox is a joy to drive on the road and really comes alive on the track. The adrenalin starts pumping as soon as the engine – mounted in true race car tradition just millimetres behind the driver – is fired up. Acceleration is breathtaking and the all-new spaceframe chassis instils confidence that allows you to utilise all the XTR4's performance.

Those of you who want more power Westfield is offering a tuning package that boosts power output to 225bhp and beyond. The handling is exemplary with a balance that is close to perfection.

The XTR4 is not only exhilarating but a truly rewarding ultimate driving experience.
